CLASS OF '63

WINCHESTER
HIGH SCHOOL

WINCHESTER, MASS.

Preface

For four years we have been learning new things. We have surrendered ourselves daily to new experiences and new ideas. We have been secure within ourselves, receiving the instruction, the patience and the encouragement of those around us. Meanwhile, we have always been looking toward the future to the day when we, as seniors, could meet life's challenges alone. Now we are finally prepared to meet those challenges and we shall always be grateful to Winchester High School for helping us to face the world proudly.

In this Aberjona, we have set before you the dearest memories of our high school years with the hope that the class of 1963 will always be remembered.

Dedication

We, the class of 1963, to repay a small measure of our respect, dedicate to you, Mr. Aversa, this yearbook.

You, who have never failed to carry in your heart an intense devotion to each individual student, are a man who has continually given the best of himself to others. Modest and sincere, during the past sixteen years you have won the gratitude and admiration of all who have known you. Your selflessness and your encouragement have helped many of us to light the lamp of knowledge.

We can never fully appreciate all that you have done for us these past four years, but we shall always be inspired by your enthusiasm and your humility. Thank you, Mr. Aversa, for the significant lessons you have taught us.

MR. JOSEPH S. AVERSA

CLASS

The following is a short playbill of a tragi-comedy in four one year acts. The cast is the Class of 1963, the scene is Winchester High School.

The curtain rises in September, 1959 with the entrance of the class en masse into the hallowed halls of learning. One brief look—shining, cherubic, and knowledge hungry faces—and the administration hastily makes a decision to relegate the care and feeding of future freshman herds to the minor leagues of the junior high schools. After a brief indoctrination into the wonders of higher education, the class decides to choose as their champions Bruce Fitzgerald, Mimi Barnes, Linda White, and Ann Shidler . . . Beggs and Cobbs burns and the freshman football squad deserts to watch . . . The football team is admirable and the freshman cheering squad diverts much attention from the field to the sidelines.

Winter comes and brings with it the exciting tech tourney—oh those train rides to Boston . . . In May it is found that the class coffers contained naught but moths, a successful Frosh Hop is held and the problem solved . . . The first act ends with the class bravely wading through final exams.

The second act opens with the Class of '63 regrouping for another assault on Winchester's Olympus of higher education led by Paul Senesi, Dottie Williams, Sandy Stockwell, and Bill Graham. Because of the loss of the freshman, the class is forced to take the brunt of upper class disdain . . . The class recovers quickly and Candee and Judy are elected varsity cheerleaders . . . This is the era of Harvey Simian and the rigors of rigor mortis in biology lab . . . April comes and the class is well represented in Vaudeville by Lollipops and Little Girls. An extra credit guillotine made for Mr. McLaughlin's AP English classes almost causes tragedy when attempts were made to try it with a real victim—"but I thought you wanted a big one sir!" The year ends with the class members anxiously awaiting to become upperclassmen.

September 1961 heralds the beginning of the third act with the yearly battle in which Mr. Waite tries to put the new junior class on its own financial feet. The battle is won when the class officers, Jimmy Devaney, Bill Branley, Sue Waldron, and Arthur Buffy resort to blackmail by greeting card . . . The fall comes to a close with the Menucci brothers coaching the girls football team to a smashing victory over Woburn.

Winter arrives with the social event the girls have been waiting for, the Junior Prom with its "On a Southern Plantation" theme . . . Some of the outstanding juniors are elected to the honor society . . . Open houses and slumber parties are rife . . . The presentation of Othello at Tufts sees the class well represented, while in their own drama circles, Betsy, Larry, and Andrea star in the Junior-Senior play. Spring fever and trips to Gloucester and the Cape end this act.

HISTORY

Amid a fanfare of sighs, September 1962 and the last act arrive. The fall is highlighted by the valiant efforts of Captain Jimmy Menucci and the football team to keep their heads above water . . . Thanksgiving Day comes and the Sachems are defeated. The Victory Dance eases the pain while Jimmy and Albie Walker accept well-earned honors . . . The class is led by the potent combination of Jimmy Devaney, Joan Zrodowski, Ruth Anne Hutchinson, and Dick Runci. Exchange students Bob and Anna add their charm and talent to the illustrious class.

Christmas comes and the Guidance Department is declared a disaster area when Miss Trickett and Mr. Silva are buried by last minute applications and the waiting begins. The few lucky ones that are accepted on early admission are easily recognized because, when someone mentions college, their faces do not have an expression of panic. The remainder of the class forgets their modern problem because of other Modern Problems; Mr. Greenway's groups, Skerryisms, and PSSC tests.

The year goes on and, after finals, the noses come off the grindstone. The Senior Prom and Class Night bring the class together socially for the last time while the final curtain goes down as a long line of capped and gowned scholars march slowly across Manchester Field.

The Class of 1963 is many things but, above all, it is grateful. We know, or think we know, how much time and effort has gone into providing us with an adequate education. Heads have been shaken over us and hairs have turned gray and we hope that sometime in the future we will make ourselves worthy of that which has been given us.

Farewell!

The Class of 1963

"I think I'll take the new Home Ec. Special course."
 "Have you seen the new language lab?"
 "Which should I take, psychology or personal typing?"

The students of Winchester High School are fortunate in being able to choose among so many different courses. The subjects are as varied as the pupils themselves. Students who wish to may take additional courses merely for interest and may audit in the classrooms. These opportunities open many new and exciting vistas.

To satisfy the scientifically-minded, the school offers regular biology and chemistry, as well as Advanced Placement Biology and Chemistry, and P.S.S.C. Physics. Those with literary inclinations may schedule, in addition to the ordinary English courses, Creative Writing. English Review is offered as a brush-up, and Advanced Placement English challenges its fifteen students. Speech and Advanced Speech help our future Thespians.

The language department is extensive and modern. Latin, French, German, and Spanish are the courses offered. A new addition to the high school facilities this year is the language laboratory. This enables students to improve their oral work.

The history courses are certainly diversified. One may study United States History, Global Geography, Modern European History, Modern Problems, or World History.

The opportunities for students to pursue their individual interests are endless. All the classes are modern and thorough in their approach; new facilities are being added each year. Certainly, the educational curriculum is one in which everyone may take great pride.

The 1963 Aberjona is the largest yearbook ever presented in the history of Winchester High School. It commemorates approximately three hundred and twenty seniors and the individual and collective activities which these students engaged in throughout their last four years in secondary school. The production of the Aberjona has been the result of almost eight months of concentrated effort by a staff directed by Dean Ericson, Stephanie Null, and Betsy Woodward, and advised by Dr. Ulin. Yet, though those months were fraught with memories of impending deadlines, lost or non-existent articles, and essential but never taken photographs, the editorial board has thoroughly enjoyed working with Judy Tofuri and her typing staff, which painstakingly deciphered scribbled handwriting, Ruth Beckley and her committee of clever cartoonists, Dick Starkweather's advertisement solicitors, and, of course, Tim Rothermel and the subscription staff which sold copies of the 1963 yearbook. The Aberjona editors have found that the extra hours spent working on the yearbook, the homework which was neglected to proofread biographies or supervise layouts, were made worthwhile when the first finished copy of this, your 1963 Aberjona, rolled off the presses.

Red and Black

This year the Red and Black celebrated its Silver Anniversary—twenty-five years of successful publication. Started in 1937, it has risen to unprecedented heights, winning a contest as the second best high school newspaper in the Commonwealth. The editorials won wide acclaim, Stephanie Null being cited for having written the second best editorial in the same contest.

The editorial board—Paul Gibb, Margaret Smith, Stephanie Null, Kay Lemay, and Joan Zrodowski—laboring long and hard, tried to make this the best year yet. By returning the paper to a four page publication, they could concentrate on quality rather than quantity. The addition of the Prism, a fledgling of the paper, but soon to be divorced from it, gives those creatively inclined a vehicle through which to express themselves. The faculty advisors, Mrs. Miller and Mr. Anastas, gave moral support and good advice. Without them the staff could never have succeeded. It was a good year: the paper made money, lost creditors, created a disturbance over the prayer issue, and provoked thought throughout the student body.

National Honor Society

ROW 1: G. Eugley, N. Baker, E. Bixler. ROW 2: R. Hutchinson, D. Harrison, J. Zrodowski, Mr. Fitts, G. Gregory, B. Chaffe.

Scholarship, Leadership, Service, Character—These are the qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society. To be elected is a great honor, for election requirements are stringent. One must rank in the upper third of his class and his classmates and teachers must judge which students of that group have most seemed to possess the traits listed above. In addition, membership is limited to five per cent of the Junior Class and fifteen per cent of the Senior Class. The officers of this year's honor society are: Neal Baker, President; Betty Bixler, Vice President; and Gwen Eugley, Secretary-Treasurer.

During a Spring assembly the new members of the National Honor Society are announced to the entire school, and they are given their membership cards. A few weeks later an inspiring induction ceremony is held for the new members and their parents. At this time, when they receive their formal certificates, the honored students give their pledge to uphold throughout their lifetime those characteristics upon which the faculty and student body elected them.

The National Thespian Society is an international honor society for those participating in extracurricular dramatic activities in high school. In an effort to stimulate and reward active participation in dramatics, Winchester High School joined this organization a little over twelve years ago. The minimum membership requirement is that the student complete at least one hundred hours in some field of dramatic activity, i.e.: working on radio station, WHSR-FM, working as technicians, acting, directing, managing, etc. Stars are given for each additional one hundred hours.

In June the society inducts its new members in a lovely ceremony, versing them in the motto of the organization, "Act well your part; there all the honor lies." This organization, under the most capable sponsorship of Mr. Thomas A. Morse, provides a central core of experienced dramatists who are able to aid Curtain & Cue.

Band

With a flash of color, an assortment of peppy marches, and a variance of good half-time shows, the Winchester High School Band lent added spirit to this year's football season. Directed by Mr. Frederick Murray, the organization now numbers about eighty members, some of whom were unable to schedule this course, but who have willingly given extra time and effort to offer the band a better blend of woodwinds and brass. Pep bands, organized by Dottie Williams and Walter Josephson, added fun and music to the various athletic rallies which here held this year.

The concert season will be made a success with the band's annual appearances at the Spring "Pops" Concert and Graduation. As usual, the High School Band expects an excellent rating at the Northeastern Music Festival. Mr. Murray will arrange several other concerts for the band, such as playing Christmas carols at the Winchester Hospital. At the end of its 1962-1963 season, the band will participate in the town's En-Ka and Memorial Day Parades.

Orchestra

The orchestra has gotten off to a good start this year despite a few scheduling difficulties. Though the orchestra is smaller than usual, the members are interested and enjoy playing. Under Mr. Withington's enthusiastic leadership the orchestra has done a great deal of sight-reading, including one of Mozart's greatest works, the Jupiter Symphony in its program. The orchestra has a good deal of fun playing In A Persian Market, a whimsical little piece which conjures up Persian princesses and paupers.

For the Christmas concert, the orchestra played Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring and Leroy Anderson's A Christmas Festival. The orchestra is looking forward to this year's Pops Concert, an innovation that was introduced last year with great success.

In addition, various members of the orchestra show their enthusiasm for music by taking private lessons, playing in the school string quartet, which meets during Activity Periods, or playing in the annual District and All-State Concerts.

Red Cross

The Red Cross, under the leadership of President—John Colliander, Vice President—Sam Rotondi, Secretary—Brenda Pepi, Treasurer—Susan Waldron, and aided by their advisor Mrs. Mercer, launched another successful season by obtaining 100 per cent in its membership drive for the second consecutive year. The student body then proceeded to go to work which resulted in thirty-five bags of old clothing for the Red Cross to distribute to various worthwhile organizations. Other projects undertaken by the members were the packing of United Fund Kits, serving food to the workers on Bloodmobile Days, and visiting the Bedford and Children's Hospitals.

The Red Cross wishes to thank the board members, the representatives, and especially the student body for making such an extensive program the success it was.

Student Council

Due to a new system of student representation the Student Council got off to a slow start this year. Instead of the three class representatives and the members at large, the Council has elected homeroom representatives to increase the Council. Under its capable President, George Snelling, the Council has made long strides. Working with him are his three efficient officers: Lynn Anderson, Vice President; Judy Tofuri, Secretary; and Judy Belliveau, Treasurer. Besides the annual business the Council does each year, it has taken on new responsibilities, such as initiating a WHS honor system and appointing many committee heads. Much attention has been given to assist our exchange students.

We owe a great deal of appreciation to our two advisors, Mr. Lewis Knight and Miss Elaine Tou-Markine. Without their help and guidance the Council would have never proven to be one of the finest, most progressive organizations in the school.

Curtain and Cue

Curtain & Cue, Winchester High's dramatic society, had its best year yet, aided by the wholehearted support of the student body. One-Act Play Night drew the largest audience since the evening's inauguration in 1954, and all the plays were conscientiously done. Next on the agenda was the traditional Christmas Play, included in "Christmas at WHS". The profits from the Junior-Senior Play were equally divided between the two classes, and the Vaudeville and Apprentice Play wound up Curtain & Cue's activities for the year. All these productions were not only acted out by students, but the lighting, make-up, prompting, ticket and publicity committees were also managed by the student body.

Curtain & Cue, the largest club in WHS, is run by Mimi Barnes, President; Sue Tully, Vice President; Sue Knight, Secretary; Jan Millican, Treasurer; Diane Kelly, Senior Executive Board Member; Patty Overacker, Junior Representative; and Dottie Williams, Senior Representative. The officers wish to express many thanks to Mr. Morse and Mrs. Kern, their advisors, who have so faithfully encouraged and guided all Curtain & Cue's activities.

Junior-Senior Play

Nervous laughter and false hilarity . . . gnawed and even bleeding nails, curt orders and muffled curses, scurryings, and hurryings all betray the annual Junior-Senior Play.

This year's play, The Barrets, by Marjory Carleton, was an epic of sin, grandeur and unbridled passion—anyway that's what the ads said. Actually, it was the story of Elizabeth Barret's change from the obedient daughter of a dominating father to the loving wife of a passionate poet, Robert Browning. Juliet Foskett and Laurence Archibald played the lovers, with Steve Brown as the father, Mr. Barret. Also in the play were Dianne Kelly, Charles Quinn, Douglas Cann, Susan Tully, Elizabeth Woodward, Richard Starkweather, Nancy Hollinshead, and Marcia Kimball.

The Barrets and company caused one Miss Brenner, the director, severe emotional stress. She was last seen screaming off into the sunset the night before the successful performance.

Miss Patricia Brenner . . . smile, you're on Candid Camera!

"Yipes—my mascara's running!"

"What did you do with my Playboy?"

"And furthermore . . ."

"Our group had 44% fewer cavities!"

"I say—shall we?"

One Act Play Night

"Hey . . . don't come in here!", "Who's got the sheets?", "Oh no!!", "Watch out for the lights!" These and less printable sayings were bandied about during the confusion that ruled backstage before One-Act Play Night. Nervous, worried casts flew by while equally nervous and worried directors scrambled to find those props that "were here a moment ago." Nevertheless, the show did go on. The junior play, "A Portrait of Nelson Holiday Jr.", won the Marian Baily Award, with Bob Williams and Chuck Quinn making the all-star cast. The sophomore play was "Beat It Beatnik" whose directors, Andrea Mattisen and Betsy Woodward, received best director awards. The senior play, "Murder Is Fun", had two of its cast, Nancy Hollinshead and Larry Archibald, make the all-star cast. One-Act Play Night was also a great financial success, drawing a record crowd, much of which stayed to see the awarding of the prizes.

Philosophy Club

Alcohol, psychology, travel . . . No, the Philosophy Club hasn't been indulging in any of the three—just learning about them. A representative of Alcoholics Anonymous startled us with his discussion, Dr. Goethals gave us an interesting and amazingly comprehensible talk on Psychology, and Mrs. Penner accompanied her description of the Near East with colored slides. The many sessions which followed were typically intriguing.

Under Mr. Skerry's stimulating (and often hilarious) leadership, the staff (President—Paul Ambrose, Vice President—Diane Kittredge, Secretary—Terry Vercollone, Assistant Secretary—Elizabeth Jackson) scheduled speakers, arranged meetings, and wrote thank-you notes.

The members (this year with the addition of Sophomores) have attended regularly, some have offered suggestions, and all have been genuinely interested. Thus, the three groups (advisor, staff, and members) have collaborated to make this year's Philosophy Club truly fascinating and instructive.

Science Club

After a remarkably slow start, the Science Club had a brilliant year. The number of meetings was stepped up considerably and students with particular scientific interests gave lectures in their field. The Science Club also conducted several field trips, including one to Harvard Observatory to hear a talk by Dr. Whipple. The Science Fair, held every year by the Science Club, was bigger and better than last year. Winners from the Fair participated in the North Shore Regional Fair and in the Massachusetts State Fair at M.I.T.

The Board, composed of chairman Anne Gregory, Neal Baker, Jonathan Greene, Russ Hatch, and Tom Dolben, formulated a set of by-laws for the club, to replace an obsolete and almost non-existent set. Mrs. Travis is to be commended for putting up with all the blunders and mistakes as well as the extremely successful events that the Club promoted during this past year. Club Officers were: President Jon Abbott, Vice President Lance Grenzeback, Secretary Carolyn Carr, and Treasurer John Totman.

Debate Club

The Debate Club is new at WHS, and it's a great addition. This year's members learned the art of formal debate from Mr. Schlittenhardt, Mr. Gross, and Miss Fleischman with the aid of an early "debate lab" at Tufts. The principal topic of debate at that college was "The United States should adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with the non-communist nations."

The art of debating brings with it the ability to stand before an audience and express one's views in an organized and clear manner. With Paul Gibb and Betty Bixler as President and Vice President respectively, the club holds weekly meetings and conducts several debates with other schools. The Debate Club will continue next year through the efforts of the advisors and many of this year's junior and sophomore members.

Devotional Committee

Each morning as the eight o'clock buzzer sounds, there is an expectant hush as the Devotional Committee opens the school day with a morning worship program. This program consists of a Bible reading, the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, and a related thought for the day. The background of organ music is handled by the station engineers of WHSR-FM. Following the devotions are the homeroom announcements, which inform the students of various school activities. This year the Devotional Committee has the faculty supervision of Miss Milliken, and its officers are Bonnie Chaffe, Joe Kane, and Richard Runci. Two committee members are assigned to broadcast the devotions each week, preparing their assignments in advance to relate to various holidays and seasonal events. The aim of the Devotional Committee is to give a deeper meaning to our high school days and to give the student more insight into himself and his society.

WHSR - FM

Winchester High is very fortunate in having its own radio station, WHSR-FM, at 91.9 megacycles on the FM band. This year "the voice of the Sachems" operated three afternoons a week, bringing a variety of entertainment to all its listeners. On Wednesdays and Fridays there were popular and folk music shows, newscasts, and special educational programs, while Thursday brought "Music of the Masters," with two and a half hours of classical music. In addition to these regular shows, the bright sounds of "Wake Up Winchester" could be heard weekday mornings from 7 to 8. For the sports fans, all home football and basketball games were broadcast.

With the help of Mr. Morse, Kate Robinson and Dean Ericson, station managers, and Steve Memishian, chief engineer, kept the station operating throughout the year with a variety of good listening for everyone.

The great increase in the number of students electing Mixed Glee Club has necessitated the division of this year's one hundred and forty member glee club into three sections. Under the patient direction of Mr. Wendell S. Withington, the combined efforts of these groups have produced wonderful results. As in the past, Mr. Withington has offered a wide variety of music, including timely favorites from the latest Broadway shows, patriotic anthems, and hymns written by the greatest composers. This year the Mixed Glee Club has participated in "Christmas at WHS," the Pops Concert, and the Northeastern Music Festival. A special vote of thanks goes to Patricia Shinney who has accompanied the glee club throughout the year at rehearsals and performances.

Girls' Glee Club

Yes, the charming and melodious belles of WHS are at it again, every Monday and Wednesday during D block. Their repertoire includes religious, popular, and show tunes done in an original and pleasing style. The lone and lucky man of the group is, of course, Mr. Wendell S. Withington, director. Fine performances at "Christmas at WHS" and the Annual Spring Concert have pleased both Mr. Withington and his songsters.

The Octette or Double Sextette, call them what you will, has successfully completed another wonderful year under the direction of the dedicated Mr. Withington. Every Monday night at 6:30, fair weather or foul, the ten Seniors and two Juniors in the group met in the high school music room to rehearse the reams of material which they used in their various performances. The program was always varied to include the old favorite Broadway hits or relatively unknown sixteenth century madrigals, not to mention the seasonal music, especially for "Christmas at WHS" which the girls worked so hard to perfect. Among their most memorable performances were One-Act Play Night, "Christmas at WHS", Rotary Club, and Vaudeville. The Octette has always been an admired tradition at the high school. The Seniors in the group feel that this year's Octette has done its best to uphold that tradition and at the same time represent the school commendably at the many functions which the group has attended.

Traffic Squad

Between one and two minutes before the passing bell, and at the end of each period, thirty five boys pick up their books and quickly and quietly abandon their classes. These sincere and dedicated men are members of that highly esteemed and selective group, the Traffic Squad.

This year's squad has fulfilled its duties well. The members have given straight directions to the gym, library, or language lab. They have firmly held to their posts, even arriving late to class, if necessary. Probably the most compelling reason for being excellent traffic officers has been that constant fear of being replaced by a small wooden door stop.

We, of the Traffic Squad, thank the student body for their help in keeping the traffic moving. We also thank our Captain, Bill Gaffney, under whose inspiring leadership we have toiled. We can only hope that next year's squad will uphold the traditions of the past. To the future members we give this charge: Hold to your posts well men, for through your doors may well pass a future girlfriend.

Girls' Intramural Council

S. SIBLEY

The main objective of the Girls' Intramural Council is to encourage "service, leadership, spirit, and sportsmanship," and to provide activities for the advantage of all girls. Each and every girl becomes an automatic member when she enters the high school, and is eligible for its benefits, whether she is a sportswoman or not.

This year, as in past years, the GIC will run many activities to raise money. At the end of the second semester this money is used to buy awards for those girls who merit them. Some of these activities will be: selling donuts at boys' basketball games, an auction, and, perhaps a food sale in the spring.

The GIC will complete a successful season once again under the able leadership of Miss Collins, faculty advisor; Judy Morison, President; Judy Bellivue, Vice President; Carolyn Paine, Secretary; Marie Scalesse, Treasurer; and the class representatives.

Cheerleaders

ROW 1: J. Tofuri, C. Hopkins, C. Callahan. ROW 2: D. Nichols, D. Price, J. Van Dyke, M. Sweetser, L. Anderson, G. Snelling, L. Dresser.

Rising above the tumult of the crowd this year could be heard ten enthusiastic voices trying to get everybody to yell in unison. The cheerleaders certainly continued the tradition of arousing the support needed to keep the team fighting. From the sweltering Concord game, to the rainy Woburn game, and all through the basketball season, these girls displayed a tremendous amount of pep and vitality.

Under the able captainship of Cynthia Hopkins, the squad developed many new cheers which were received gratefully by the fans—and who could forget Cindy's poem, "Twas the Night Before Thanksgiving" which was the high point of the all-school rally!

Dilapidated megaphones, hoarse voices and aching backs were proof that the cheerleaders were really doing their jobs. With the the invaluable help of the Pep Club and the Band ("let's go!"), the girls brought out the school spirit that made all the work worthwhile.

Tumblettes

ROW 1: R. Beckley, S. Puffer, E. Aiken. ROW 2: J. Hogan, A. Ahern, C. Bertolucci, N. Stafford, J. Carucci, B. Gilberti, G. Hegarty.

Oops! Squish! Slip! I've lost my flower! Through rain and bands and acres of mud the Tumblettes demonstrated their amazing feats of agility by entertaining the crowd during the halftimes of football games. Led by Captain Sue-Ellen Puffer and inspired by the swinging "Bugle Rock", the ten terrific tumblers slipped their way across football fields to out-perform all opposition majorettes. Practice sessions were long and frequent and, due to the miserable weather, often took place in the hall in front of the Athletic Office. The great change from a hard hall floor to a water-soaked field did not faze the tumblers at all. From daring pyramids to breath-taking precision double tricks, they put on a remarkable display during the entire season. The climax came, as the rain poured down and the field grew sponge-like, with a three-decker pyramid, mud-covered uniforms, and a memorable Saturday-after-Thanksgiving game.

Field Hockey

"Are we going to lose? No! Are we going to tie? No! Are we going to win? Yes! Let's go!" As the sound of the cheer echoed across Ginn Field, the girls' hockey team ran on to the field for another victory. Only once in nine games did anyone come close to equalling their fine play as Concord tied them with a last-second goal. And did they work! The girls realized the value of panting through long practices every day after school as they put their skill to good use in downing important opponents such as Lincoln-Sudbury and the Cambridge School of Weston. Extra special credit goes to Miss Collins for her enthusiasm and skill as a coach, Co-Captain Immi Casagrande for her never-ending fight, and Co-Captain Marie Scalesse, about whose brilliance as a goalie it is only necessary to say that Winchester scored a total of forty goals in nine games while its opponents scored a mere four goals in the same number of contests.

ROW 1: I. Casagrande, S. Stockwell, L. Laughlin, J. Pettingell, M. Mumma, L. White, E. Bixler, J. Morison, M. Scalesse, P. Lamarca, D. Harrison, S. Null. ROW 2: Miss Collins, C. Stratton, J. Belliveau, A. Donovan, C. Denton,

Girls' Basketball

As "Mix-em-up" Morison, "Dynamite" Debbi, "Swish" Bixler, "Whizzer" White and "Pile-it-on" Penny tore around the basketball court this past season, seven rival teams fell victim to their accurate forward shooting and the fine guarding of "Scheming Scalesse," "Sticky Fingers" Stockwell, "Pass-it-off" Pettingell, and "Catch-it-quick" Casagrande. The number of points scored was as high as the enthusiastic team spirit, twenty-eight baskets being tallied in one thirty-two minute game. Nausea, the slick six mascot, performed admirably, although he did disappoint the squad during the first game, being absent because of a slight digestive upset (Lost 27-32). This season saw many innovations in the rules of the game (two girls being allowed to cross the center line), a hard fought and victorious J.V. schedule, the adoption by the squad of an official team song, "God Bless America," impeccable bus manners, crushed and crumbled cookies, a monstrous birthday cake for the captain, and a coach second to none in fairness and dedication.

Girls' Softball

"When you see that ball coming you've got to want to get it!" will be advice freely given by our coach this year. The girls, led by Co-Captains Debbi Harrison and speedball pitcher Penny LaMarca, will show the desire and skill needed in the field as the softball team once again experiences a successful season.

The girls must adapt themselves well, both to shifts made in positions and the introduction on the squad of some sophomore stars. The ballplayers, with each girl well drilled in her own particular skill and exhibiting fine team play, look forward to particularly fine games with tough opponents from Concord, Arlington, and Lexington.

Girls' Tennis

Scarcely will the courts be thawed out when the members of the Winchester Girls' Tennis Team will begin to compete with one another for that top spot on the ladder. Being number one on the ladder means you are number one on the team.

Winchester, always noted for its fine tennis players, once again will have worthy representatives from the high school. It will almost be hard to find competition for these "Racketeers", organized and led by Miss Collins and well managed by a competent senior. WHS will raid the courts of traditional rivals Belmont, Lexington, Arlington, and Newton South. Special credit for absconding with victories will go to Captain Candee McConnell and her junior following of Debbie Price, Diane Kittredge, Lynn Anderson and Judy Belliveau. A fine haul can be expected this coming season.

Football

Although this year's 1-8-0 record was comparatively poor, it does not reflect the true picture of the past year's football team. In almost every game, the Sachems held the score to a tie until the last quarter.

Winchester opened the season against a strong Concord team. Concord jumped to an early 16-6 lead, but the Sachems soon narrowed the gap with a quick touchdown early in the second half. Unable to score again, Winchester came out on the short end of a 16-14 score. Stoneham invaded Winchester a week later, with the result almost a duplicate of the previous week's contest. The team fought hard, but was unable to stop two Stoneham drives in the final period. The result: 20-8—another Winchester loss. The team ended their three game home stand with a much desired 20-6 victory over non-league Cambridge Latin.

The Sachems then journeyed to Lexington, where they found themselves entangled in another tight one. But, alas, two drives in the last period failed to overcome the 24-16 result. Having returned home, the team found themselves faced with a greatly favored Melrose team. At one point, Winchester was actually fourteen points ahead of the Raiders; but Melrose came back strong in the second half to go home with a 34-20 victory.

After losing 14-0 to a very strong Belmont team, Winchester dropped a tight 8-6 decision to Reading. The Sachems were then opposed and soundly beaten by a tough Wakefield team, 34-0. This was the only game that Winchester was out of from the beginning.

Thanksgiving fans saw two well matched teams fight it out at Manchester Field. Two Winchester miscues early in the first half accounted for both Woburn touchdowns. Both teams were held scoreless in the second half, but the damage had already been done.

There was one bright spot in the season; it gave Coach Knowlton a chance to use the juniors and sophomores on the squad. In view of the experience gained by these boys, Winchester can look forward to a fine season next year.

Cross Country

With only one returning letterman this year, Captain David Bird, the cross country team had seemingly poor hopes for a successful season. However, the Harriers came out of the competition with an excellent record of six wins and three losses. All of the credit for this success goes to the hard-working squad, which started training in mid-August. After losing to Melrose, 15-44, and Lexington, 26-29, in the opening two meets, the Harriers went on to defeat Stoneham, 38-19, Reading, 42-17, Watertown, 35-20, Woburn, 31-25, Belmont, 29-27, and Concord, 50-15, dropping only one more meet in a close match with Wakefield, 24-32. In a truly team effort in the League Meet, Winchester finished third with one hundred and one points.

Able led by Captain David Bird, this spirited team was backed up by Jeff Peckham, John Buckley, Tom Kelley, Eric Schaefer, Bill Thoms, Kevin Kiley, Greg Howard, Richard Amoroso, and John Perrault. Last, but certainly not least, Coach Roger Rawden must be congratulated for the excellent guidance which he contributed to this team.

Boys' Basketball

This year's team has had a season which Winchester fans would term only fair. After losing its first three league games to Stoneham, Wakefield, and Melrose, the Sachem quintet bounced back to defeat Reading. A loss to Concord was followed by impressive victories over Belmont and Lexington. Then the Sachem hoopers lost to Stoneham, once again, but managed to defeat Wakefield. Following this victory were losses to Melrose and Reading, which were succeeded by victories over Concord and Belmont.

The big guns this year for the Sachems were Captain Jim Devaney and Vick Papadinis, both forwards. Bob Watson, center, and Bob Branley and Mike O'Dair, guards, completed the Sachem starting five.

Although the team won't be in the Tech this year, the Sachems managed to finish with a winning season. Best of luck to Coach Phillips and next year's starting courtmasters.

Hockey

One of our winter sports of which Sachem followers have become inordinately fond is hockey. At the opening of Middlesex League competition we had a veteran team composed of one senior, Captain Tom Johns, and five juniors, Eddie Cutting, Barry Johnson, George Murphy, Victor Lawson and Gerry Hills. Behind that team was a second line composed of one senior, David Eaton, and two juniors, Bevin O'Callaghan and Bobby Murray. Knowing the calibre of our team hopes ran high that we might earn a berth in the State Tournament.

The Sachem pucksters took the ice first against a strong Wakefield team and came out on top 2-0, thus starting out well. Their first defeat came against Melrose in the third game of the season. The Sachems led by two points in the early stages of the game but were downed by a series of eleven penalties in the second period to Melrose's one penalty.

The highlight of the season came in the second round against a previously undefeated, league-leading Belmont team. The Sachems dominated the play for the entire game and beat Belmont 3-2.

The Sachems' first line led the league in scoring, and our squad had four of the top ten scorers. Barry Johnson took highest honors with nineteen points, Eddie Cutting tied for second with sixteen points, George Murphy had ten points and Captain Tom Johns had nine points.

Spares who performed well were seniors, Richie Connor; juniors, Richard Murray, Brian McCormack, Bobby Cowles, Ronnie Scherban, Greg Howard; and sophomores, Gene Carey, Bill Gustin, Paul Soucek, and Johnny Cussen. Congratulations to the entire team and Coach Frank Finigan for a very successful season.

Gym Team

Coach Isodore Battino's 1963 edition of the gymnastic team competed in a series of eight dual meets this season with just one blemish on its record. In their first three meets, the Sagyms squeaked by Wellesley and Needham by a total of six points and were handed their first and only setback by powerful Andover, ranked number one in the state. Consecutive wins over Framingham, Lexington, Melrose, Newton, and Minnechaug Regional provided plenty of experience for the junior varsity, too, which often outshone the opposition's best.

Seniors gathering in the points for Winchester this year were Captains Reed Lowry and Dave March, Evan Croft, Bill Gaffney, Skip Hoyt, Jack McSweeney, and Jay Handy. Manager Tom Baird and John Cleary kept the team well bandaged.

In 1964, WHS will rely on Mike Hamel, Rick Halverson, Pete Buros, Frank Donovan, and Fred Babakian to hold the fort.

Winchester has never lost to Framingham, Lexington, or Melrose, and prospects point to an unbroken tradition.

Baseball

As soon as the snow begins to clear from the baseball diamond, the baseball team will embark on a season which should bring the Middlesex League title back to Winchester. On the mound, the team's hopes rest on the shoulders of "Rubber Arm" Ron Keane, and two curve ball "southpaws," Dick Rowe and Roger Schipellele. Coach Kessler is planning his offensive attack around seniors Dick Cervizzi, John Colliander, and juniors Ed Cutting, Sam Rotondi, Vic Lawson, Steve Goldin, and Dick Fieta. Despite the offensive line-up Coach Kessler has in mind, reliable sources around the baseball circles of the school have it that "Rubber Arm" Keane is planning to contribute the major part of the offensive punch, with Dick Rowe burning up the base paths with his blazing speed. All in all, the invaluable experience gained last year by the many returning lettermen should make this year's an interesting and successful season.

Track

Under the able leadership of Mr. Battino and Captain Bill Thoms, the track team promises to have one of its finest seasons in recent years. With seven out of fifteen lettermen returning from the previous season, the Sachems find themselves with a stronger than usual group of distance runners, led by record holder and this year's Captain, Bill Thoms, in the 440, George Snelling in the 880, and Dave Bird in the mile. Rounding out the running events will be Paul Klorer in either the 100 or 220.

In the field events, Bill Graham and Jack McSweeney will compete in the high-jump, with possible record breaker, Steve Wardwell, in the Javelin.

With an all-out effort of a large group of promising Jay-vees, Mr. Battino expects to fill in some of the weak spots in the weight events and hurdles created by graduation. The success of this year's squad will be determined by the amount of concentrated effort on the part of the athletes during training and competition.

Boys' Tennis

Spring, 1963, will find a Boys' Tennis Team void of any senior talent, but boasting the most formidable squad of junior racketeers to take over the courts in years. Sparked by such outstanding players as Captain Bill Keeton, Gerry Hills, Tom Kuhn, and Dwight Bellows, the team will "serve 'em up" to such traditional rivals as Lexington, Concord, Melrose, Belmont, and Wakefield. The private schools of Andover, Groton, and Middlesex will also be on the Sachem warpath. Last year the Boys' Tennis Team won all of its inter-squad matches but did not do as well as they expected in the State Tournament. The team, under the watchful eyes of Coach Ulin, has its eyes set on equalling, if not bettering, last year's performance.

Golf

Taking advantage of spring weather and free instruction by Tex McReynolds, the pro at the Winchester Country Club, the golf team will attempt to better last year's fine record. The team will be of assuredly high quality with Arthur McLean, Tommy Johns, and John Stabile returning. Backed by the able coaching of Mr. Aversa, the team hopes to acquire some new talent from the sophomore and junior classes with which to tee off and drive to more and more Sachem victories on the links.

Varsity Club

The Winchester High School Varsity Club, directed by Coach Henry Knowlton, is composed of all male athletes who have earned a varsity letter in any sport. The main purpose of this organization is to promote good sportsmanship in any aspect of school life, whether it be on the playing field or in the classroom. It is also the sounding board for athletes' grievances that might arise during the course of the school year. In addition, the club runs the Fall Sports Dance, the Varsity Club Sports Night, and the banquets given for the lettermen of various sports.

The officers of the club for this year are Richard Rowe, President; Edward Cutting, Vice President; James Menucci, Secretary; and William Branley, Treasurer.

A TELEPHONE JOB

OFFERS BOTH CAREER

AND SOCIAL SATISFACTION

WITHOUT BREAKING STRIDE,

why not graduate from high school to the Telephone Company? You'll love the friendly young people who'll work with you, and the many social activities that make your work so pleasant and rewarding.

OPPORTUNITY IS EXCELLENT

and your ability will be recognized. Your starting salary should climb with regular increases. And, of course, Company benefits, security, and regular advancement are well-known reasons why working for the Telephone Company is so attractive to graduates.

TELEPHONE JOBS ARE IMPORTANT,

vital to the effective communications of the community, the nation, and the world. When you take your place as a respected member of the telephone community, we'll train you, on full salary, even without previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

"Charm..."

*if you have it,
you need nothing else"*

Be Poised . . . Be Pretty . . . Be Popular
BE A POWERS GIRL!

Teen, career and adult classes are starting soon in air-conditioned comfort. Rewarding course of study includes professional instruction on poise and personality, good grooming, effective figure control and wardrobe planning, use of makeup, better speech . . . and so much more! All of which adds up to every woman's objective . . . that indefinable, unmistakable thing called "charm."
